Greetings from the land of white nights,

First I want to thank God for all of you who called and sent encouraging letters and emails. There are no words to express how your prayers, support, and communication mean to us. It keeps us going and helps keep a hedge around us, protecting us from Satan's attacks.

The soccer season ended with the our older team in 1st and our middle school team with a 2nd place win. It was an interesting season. As I mentioned in an earlier letter, several of the middle school boys I coached were defiant and did not work together as a team. This made it very hard to work with them, especially when it came to witnessing to them. At one tournament only 3 players showed up. I told them they could not play unless we had 8. They call all their friends and were able to get 6 new middle school kids to play. They did well, helping us place 2nd for the season. Thanks to your prayers we have 7 new contacts! Pray that God will work in their hearts.

My family is still working on getting our health issues solved. Candice is having a hormonal imbalance and we're trying to find out what is causing it. All three are dealing with Sherman Kyphosis. My wife (who is a Celiac) accidentally ate a big serving of gluten and has been ill for the last 3 weeks. The house and school really suffer when mom is down. Please keep our health in your prayers.

Please pray for evangelism, I am out and about talking to people but little fruit as of yet. Michael still has not come to church but I have meet with him several times and am still in communication with him. A new contact to pray for is the security installer at at our church facility. He had lots of questions about the difference between Russian Orthodox and us. I witnessed to him and gave him several tracks. Pray God will open his eyes and I will get the opportunity to witness further to him.

Thanks again for your support and prayers. It does make a difference. There are many out there seeking. We just have to find them and be ready with an answer.

For lost Russian souls
